The Wait, Over

It was humming along to an inaudible music, on time with the ticks of the clock. It was time soon, it realised excitedly. It went through the apartment in its mind, looking through every nook and cranny, making sure it has kept everything in shape, has made the place comfortable and welcoming. And so it was.

It was time to set the tea. It enjoyed the calm it provided. It meant things were ready. It was a breather, waiting in the kitchen. It poured itself a glass of juice.

The alarm on its phone went off, causing it to drip some juice on its tits, startled. It then grabbed the kitchen towel, while also making sure to get the tea bag out of the cup. It dabbed the juice off, grabbed the honey and added it to the tea.

The cup said: "#1 Cat Mum". It liked the cup. It put it on a small plate, and brought it out, towards the work room.

It placed it carefully on the desk, then fluffed the pillow under the desk. It looked over at the cage, and decided to righten the blanket draped over it.

Now, it was time for its fun. It smirked, and crept up to the kitchen window, to check through the blinders if the car was already there. It grabbed one of the "allowed" snacks, and sat down by the window, keeping watch. It wouldn't be long.

It was time. The car had arrived. It could hear steps in the hallway. It listened carefully, and once the steps got to the door, it slung it open, only to be tackle hugged by the figure closing the door behind them. It could feel the clothes, the curves against its skin. It held tight, and kissed the face of its Mistress.

"You cannot just open the door naked, kitten!"

"I only do it for you, Mistress."

"You'll get caught by someone, someday."

"And you'll catch me, when I fall. " It sham swooned.

They rolled their eyes at it, then kissed back.

They started getting out of their coat, and handed it to it, to hang up in the wardrobe.

"I'll have a bit more work to do, kitten. Help me get out of these pants."

It unbuttoned the pants, making sure to give the tummy a kiss, then kissed lower, just to notice a glint in their eyes. Pulling down, it gave one of their legs a lick. When it moved back up, it saw their panties straining from the hardness within.

"These too, you slut. But you don't get to touch, yet."

It looked longingly up its Mistress'es cock, as it freed it from its tight prison.
Still on its knees, it was led to the work room, and let into the nook under the desk, where it situated itself comfortably on the pillow.
They sat down at the desk, and rolled in closer, letting it see the length of meat hanging in front of its face. Being between its Mistress'es legs was always intoxicating, and it was fighting the urge to touch, to kiss, to lick.
It felt the hand of its Mistress pet its head, and move down, to caress its face. They looked down at it, making its eyes meet theirs. It wasn't touching itself. It wasn't touching anything. It wasn't supposed to. It was full of pent up lust, focused in the gaze between it and its Mistress.

"Slowly, kitten. I need you to warm me, and be quiet. If you're good, we'll have some fun when I'm done with the calls."

It opened up its mouth, and handled the semi-hard member, gently moving it deeper into it. The feeling of girth and pressure against the back of its throat made it moan out, and it moved its hands towards its clit, but a stern look from its Mistress had the hands firmly behind its back, again. It took its Mistresses cock deeper and deeper, until its head rested between their thighs. It could feel the cock expand and get harder inside of it. It breathed calmly through its nose, and looked up at its Mistress. They looked down at it, and smiled. Warmth radiated out through its body.

"Good kitten."

Time passed by, but it didn't fully notice it. The smell of and closeness to the Mistress were entrancing it, and all it could keep in its head was the gentle rocking of their hips, moving their length ever so slightly in and out of its throat. There were voices above it. Mistress smiled, and looked stern, or determined. They talked a lot, about things unintelligible to its mind.
What it noticed, however, was when Mistress raised their voice. Their body went tense, but they kept on smiling. It could see in their eyes, though, that things were wrong. They looked down for a moment, and caught its glance. Their eyes softened, and they looked towards the screen again.

"You're lucky I'm in a good mood today, John," they smiled. "You'll have to clean up that little mess you made by tomorrow, or we'll have to move some of our human resources around."

It heard the sound of a call disconnecting.

There was the crash of its Mistresses fist ramming against the surface of the desk.
It nearly jumped at the feeling, causing its Mistress to look at it with concern.

"I'm sorry, kitten! I didn't mean that. It's just an idiot at work, that's been making life hell for everyone around him. It doesn't matter. I'm here with you."

They pet it, gently, and guided its head off their cock. Streaks of saliva were still connecting it to the member, until it gave it a gentle peck on the tip.

"They can fucking deal with things themselves, for now. I'll take care of you, kitten. You've been very good and you need your reward," they cupped its head, and brushed its hair out of its eyes.

They took a drink out of their lukewarm tea, and sighed in relief. Then they stood up, and let it out from under the desk.
They lead it, on all fours, towards their play room. They asked for its hands, and it obliged, cuffs being sturdily locked around them. Upon being gently tugged, it stood up, and raised its hands, so that its Mistress could more easily attach the chain between the cuffs to a hook hanging from the ceiling. It was standing on tip-toes. All of its body was on display before its Mistress. They gave one of its nipples a gentle kiss, and drew with their finger on its body, moving from its throat, down to its loins, circling their hooded clit. They gave the other tit a quick slap, to which it bit its lip to stifle a moan. A slap on the ass later, they finally neared its hungry lower lips. They have been glistening with juices since they've been here, and its Mistress would bet on it, that there was a wet spot on the pillow below the desk. They moved away from it, towards one of the cupboards, and rummaged in it, pulling out a black, leather flogger.

"Your girlfriend is eager to taste you, again," they said, pushing the hilt against its vagina, and pulling the straps up its back from between its legs, causing it all to bite into its taint. It could not escape, as it was barely holding onto the floor.

They let loose, and took the hilt. A gentle, casual swing hit the straps lightly against its hip. A gentle sting. They looked at its back, following some lines and not fully healed bruises and cuts, with their finger. They remembered seeing the trickle of blood, and hearing the whimper and moan, as they disinfected these marks, last time. They'll need to wait a bit longer this time. Try a different salve.

A snap rang in the air, as they drove the flogger onto its back. There was half a yelp, and its body tensed up, then relaxed, laying limper against the cuffs.

"Thank you, Mistress," it said, with a smile.

Another snap came, hitting its back and side, leaving red marks just like the last.

And another snap came down on it, hitting the lower back and ass.

It could feel the flashes of fire, erupting around its body. The burning sensation they left behind only intensifying with each hit. Its mind was full of the white overload of sensory information. Muscles tensed and spasmed, as the burning increased. It felt like it was floating. Its arms were aching from the position they were in, stretched at every moment by the chain attached to the ceiling. Things were at once extremely clear, and confusingly fuzzy. Its brain was drunk with pleasure. It was mad with feelings. It felt it might have orgasmed, once or twice, throughout, but the feeling was little compared to the fire, to the overflow within it, to the way it felt alive.

It realised the flashes stopped. Its arms were let down. It was held gently, and made to lay down on its belly.

Then, with the suddenness of a gunshot, everything shot back into its body. Its mind was sharp, focused on every single frayed and screaming nerve in its back. Its Mistress was dabbing some alcohol, on the wounds, making the world stop, every single time.

"I love you, Mistress," it tried to say.

"I love you, too, kitten."

"Please, fuck me, Mistress."

"Have patience, kitten. I'll take care of you."

The dabbing continued, for a while, after which the world froze over, as a cool salve was applied to its tender flesh. A little gauze and band-aids, and they let it sit up.

"How are you feeling, kitten?"

"Incredible. Thank you, Mistress. How are you feeling?"

"Really glad to hear you're ok. That I'm doing things right."

"You don't have to be perfect, Mistress. And if you ever feel doubt, just stop, check in with me. I loved every second of it."

They looked at each other, just sitting against each other, for a while. Lost in each others' beauty.

"Sooo... I'm still sore, pain is buzzing in me. Would you want me to take care of your magnificent dick with my holes, Mistress?"

They smirked, then stood up, and gently picked it up, eliciting a small moan when touching its back. It was only a few moments, until they laid it down on the Mistress'es bed.

"Let me help, Mistress."

It undid the buttons on its Mistresses shirt, and unclasped the bra, letting their breast drop free. Helping them take off the shirt, it cuddled up to its Mistress'es breast, and suckled on the nipple. After the shirt was off, the Mistress laid down in bed next to it, and it got to heartily suck on one breast, playing with, twisting, squeezing the other nipple. Then it reached down, towards the Mistress'es dick, rubbing it up and down, feeling it harden in its hand. It nibbled on their nipples, going up to their neck, and giving little kisses leading up to a passionate kiss on the lips, while also trying to guide the shaft up its pussy. It didn't quite work out, but it propped itself up, kneeled on its Mistress'es hips, and gently let their dick into it. With a little bit more time and patience, it lowered itself, letting its Mistress deeper and deeper inside. It leaned forward, and started kneading its Mistress'es breasts, as it was slowly moving back up along their shaft. Then back down. Its Mistress put their hands on its hips, and started guiding their speed, progressively getting faster. Moans were escaping both of them. It could clearly feel Mistress'es gentle hands touching its back. It started gyrating its hips forward and back, with the thrusts into it. They locked in a kiss, again, for a moment, slowing down. Then its Mistress started bucking their hips harder. It started gasping, getting short of breath. They started grunting. It came first, its body shivering and convulsing against Mistress'es strong arms. Then they came, pushing deep into it, pulling it in by the hips.

They laid there, together, on the bed, still inside of each other. It was curled up to its Mistress'es chest, while they were gently petting their hair.

"Thank you for today, Mistress."

"You deserved it, kitten. It's been a bit, since we last could do this. Just, be careful with your back. I'll help you change the gauze, soon."

It looked deep into their eyes, and kissed them on the nose.

"Yes, Mistress."

They laid there, in each other's arms, and it felt tingles along where their skin touched.

"Did I do good, Mistress?"

"You were great, kitten."

They kissed it on the forehead.

"How's the house doing, kitten?"

"We're running out of milk, again. We need window cleaner. Otherwise, all clear, Mistress."

"Did you drink all the milk, again, kitten?"

"Mmm... Maybe," it smirked.

"Black coffee it is, for me. I'll put it on the list. Tomorrow."

They pinched its ass, to a small yelp. They put on some quiet music, and dimmed the lights.

"What about the food, Mistress? I cooked for you."

They closed the hug tighter around it, not letting it out of the bed, and snuggled closer.

"Just a short nap," they yawned.
